

Case Study #1

Men's Tennis Grand Slam Champion Trends

Questions

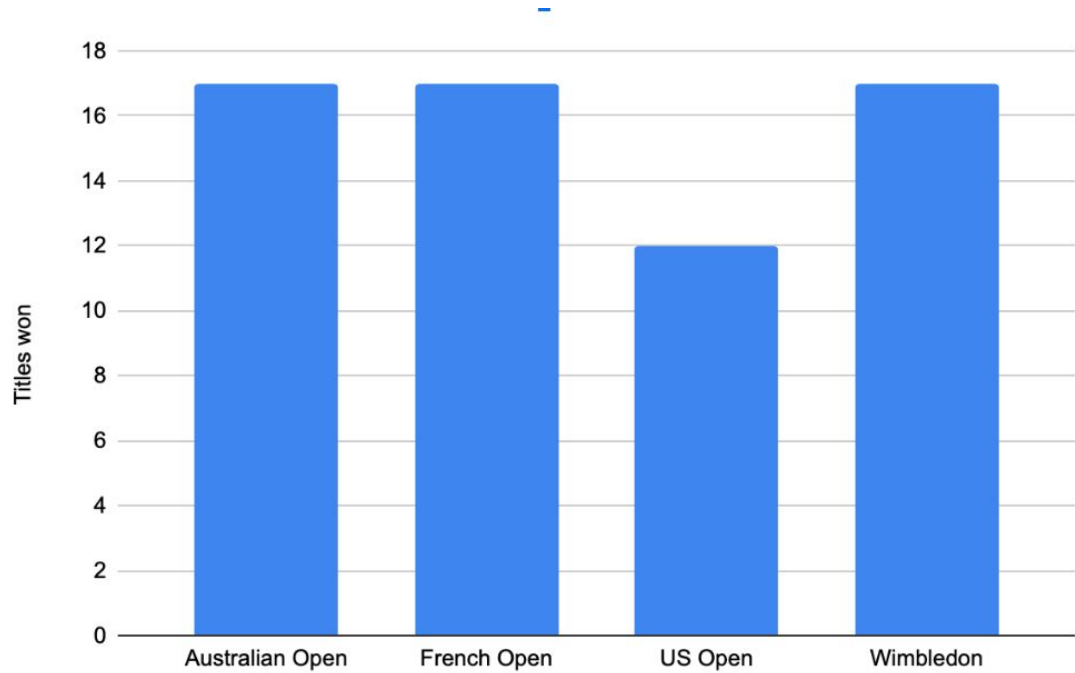

- 1) Is there any one country that produces more men's tennis grand slam champions?
- 2) What are the winning trends of the so called "big 3" since 2004?
- 3) Is there any one grand slam that the big 3 have won less?

Rafa has won a lot more french open.

The big three have won far less US opens than the other grand slams.

US open produces new champions outside of the big three.

Since 2004, they have won at least two majors every year: no signs of slowing down.

US has produced the most grand slam champions followed by France, Great Britain and Spain.

Men's tennis grand slam winners

